Adding Raven Overlays & Nevermore Textures

Drag and Drop the Overlay

Browse in Bridge, your image finder, or this tutorial to determine which of the overlays you'd like to add to your image.

The Raven Overlays should be used in "normal" mode.

Trouble Shooting:

- The Raven Overlays and Nevermore Textures are NOT actions. They will not "load" like an .atn file.

The Bonus Nevermore Textures should be sized to completely cover the full image. Once sized, they are recommended be used in Screen, Soft Light, Multiply, or Overlay modes. Feel free to lower the opacity levels to soften each blending mode's effects.

Jessica Drossin Photography Licensing Agreement

By purchasing or acquiring this product (contest winner, product tester, etc), you are agreeing to abide by the terms of the End User License Agreement / Terms of Use.

Here are the simple rules for using my textures, overlays and actions:

1) These textures / actions / overlays are licensed to one user only for their personal and/or professional use. I work hard to make them pretty inexpensive to discourage "sharing". Please be respectful and do not give these to others.

2) These products may not be re-sold, re-purposed, re-used, or redistributed in any way whatsoever without expressed written permission of Jessica Drossin. You may not use my textures, actions or overlays to make "new" textures, actions, or overlays. It is also a violation of my copyright and this license to use my textures, overlays, actions, etc., in anyway to re-create items such as textures, frames, vignettes, or brushes for redistribution or resale. Any repurposing or redistribution is illegal and is subject to prosecution. I also reserve the right to name thieves on my social media sites.

3) You must use these textures integrated with your own artwork and photography – ie. do not post them as they currently appear on Flickr, Tumblr, yourblog etc., unintegrated with YOUR art as this would make them easy to steal. You may use these textures in client work, but may NOT post or redistribute them "as is" on your blog, in your mentoring class, etc.
